Message from Designated Institutional Official

Prof Tan Hak Koon

Designated Institutional Official
SingHealth Residency

My heartiest congratulations to all graduands and award recipients!

Tonight, we celebrate the graduation of SingHealth's ninth cohort of Residents and the SCRP Cohort 10 and SRLP Cohort 6 Chief Residents. We also recognise the achievements of the National Outstanding Clinician Scientist Resident, House and Medical Officers in the SingHealth Best Junior Doctors Awards 2023.

Graduands, well done and congratulations on your achievements despite tough times. COVID-19 over the past few years has caused major disruptions to our healthcare system and medical education. Your presence here today is a testament to your resilience and commitment to patient care and Residency training. I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the tireless work and sacrifices you have made.

As you embark on the next phase of your medical career, you will encounter different challenges and situations. Even though Residency training has equipped you with the core competencies required for practice, I strongly encourage you to embrace life-long learning and continuous medical education. Always remember that patient is at the heart of all we do, and always maintain the highest standard of professionalism and integrity.

I wish you all the best in your future Medical career!

Message from Valedictorian

Dr Tan Zhibin

Neurology,
Valedictorian,
SingHealth Residency
2023

On behalf of the graduating cohort of 2023, I would like to thank all our seniors and supporting staff, friends and families, for their guidance and support during our Residency training. Our Residency programmes are robust and rigorous, and I have full confidence in our competence as individual specialists.

No matter what stage of career we are in, there will be new challenges. The best way to manage stress is not to avoid challenges, but to simply become so good that the challenges become easy, relative to our competence.

Notwithstanding a commitment to keep improving oneself, we must also be grounded and realistic. In healthcare, some challenges can be insurmountable, at least in the present time. We can defend ourselves against the trials of healthcare by building collegiality, discerning a purpose, and mustering courage.

We have different skills and strengths, and we will assume different roles in healthcare. But there are some things uniformly required from each of us if we are to fulfil the mandate that our patients entrust to us; we must remember to have the humility to keep learning, rise to the challenges that come our way, remain united, and lead with purpose and courage.

I wish my fellow graduands fulfillment in their careers!

Physician Pledge

The Pledge, based on the Hippocratic Oath and on the Declaration of Geneva, was adopted in 1984 by the World Medical Association. It has been drafted to reflect the practice of Medicine today, to remind doctors of their responsibility to their patients and the medical profession.

(Please stand and raise your right hand to affirm the Physician's Pledge)

"I solemnly pledge to:

Dedicate my life to the service of humanity;

Give due respect and gratitude to my teachers;

Practise my profession with conscience and dignity;

Make the health of my patient my first consideration;

Respect the secrets which are confided in me;

Uphold the honour and noble traditions of the medical profession;

Respect my colleagues as my professional brothers and sisters;

Not allow the consideration of race, religion, nationality or social standing;

To intervene between my duty and my patient;

Maintain due respect for human life;

Use my medical knowledge in accordance with the laws of humanity;

Comply with the provisions of the Ethical Code; and

Constantly strive to add to my knowledge and skill.

I make these promises solemnly, freely and upon my honour."
